Williams Gateway Airport Announces New Marketing Staff

MESA, AZ --- Williams Gateway Airport announces the appointment of Rhonda Gagner to the position of Cargo Marketing and Development for the Airport Authority. Ms. Gagner comes to WGAA with over 12 years experience in the forwarding industry and is responsible for marketing the cargo capabilities and services of WGAA to the air cargo industry. WGAA, in conjunction with Himovitz Properties, will open their first air cargo facility in January of 2005. The building will offer 25,000 square feet of cargo space.

Williams Gateway Airport also announces the appointment of John Barry to the position of Air Carrier Marketing and Development for the Airport Authority. Mr. Barry comes to WGAA with over 32 years experience working directly for a variety of air carriers and service providers. Mr. Barry comes to WGAA from Evergreen/EAGLE, the Ground Logistics division of Evergreen International Aviation. Mr. Barry will be responsible for the marketing and development of passenger airline services from WGAA. WGAA has a four-gate passenger terminal currently being utilized by Allegiant Air on a monthly basis to/from Laughlin, Nevada.

Williams Gateway Airport is located in Mesa, Arizona, which is in the Phoenix metropolitan area. WGAA is a full-service Airport catering to such high-profile tenants as Boeing, Intel, Cognitive Engineering Research Institute, L-3 Communications, and Himovitz Properties, and has a close working relationship with Arizona State University East campus and their aviation-related programs.

If you would like to contact either Rhonda or John, please call: (480) 988-7600 or visit our website at "www.flywga.org"

The Airport is owned and operated by the Williams Gateway Airport Authority, which includes Mesa, the Gila River Indian Community, Gilbert, and Queen Creek. For more information, visit www.flywga.org.
